Wikipedia Emerges as Trusted Internet Source for Ebola Information

As a fresh wave of Ebola fear grips the American public, the Internet is rife with conspiracy theories, supposed miracle cures and Twitter posts of dread.

But amid the fear mongering are several influential sites that are sticking to the facts about Ebola. Millions have come to rely on these sites, including those run by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the World Health Organization and Wikipedia.

Wikipedia? The online encyclopedia's Ebola Virus Disease article has had 17 million page views in the last month, right up there with the C.D.C.'s Ebola
